Inviting nature indoors

Gardening guru Jamie Durie's successful collaboration with the Rug Collection company has branched out even further. It follows the popularity of his outdoor concept and successfully transposes it indoors.

The Garden Room indoor rug collection features a new range of six distinctive designs: Blossom, Flannel Flowers, Leaf Canopy, Orchid, Dew Web and Summer Beauty. Each combines a sense of the outdoors with the colours of nature. They were inspired by Jamie's images taken by him on his travels.

Bold uses of colour, whimsical design exploration and a modern edge work in harmony to bring life to the contemporary collection.

"There is nothing more inspiring to me than the beauty that's found in nature," says Jamie. "The tranquil elements bring a sense of simplicity and freshness to indoor spaces."

Hand-tufted in a New Zealand wool blend, they are 160 x 230cm (RRP $1095) and 200 x 290cm (RRP $1695) or they can be custom sized and coloured on request.

The Rug Collection is available nationally through leading stockists or visit www.therugcollection.com.au for more information.

Italian Glass Masters.

Italian Glass masters Riflessi have created the perfect antidote to plain bathrooms everywhere with a kaleidoscope of wondrously colourful craftsmanship. Distributed by Paco Jaanson, your private sanctuary has never been more vibrant and dynamic, thanks to this contemporary collection of washbasins, and bathroom accessories.

This dazzling bathroomware crafted from the island of Murano (Venice) celebrates the ancient, skillful mastery of glasswork. Each is a unique piece on its own; blown, strained and designed to exude a texture created through an innovative glass fusion process. Produced is either a cool, subtle colour dispersal or the formation of dramatic bold lines. It's the perfect way to incorporate a little continental chic into an otherwise neutral decor.
