Innovative Illumination. Renowned Australian designer Marc Pascal has done it again with the beautiful 'Orchid' light, the culmination of a series of lights, incorporating a kinetic quality through the use of tensile stainless steel wire and polycarbonate, taking on the likeness of an orchid flower with intricate colours and unique patterns created through the hand-dying process.

1. The Origami Cushion from Rouge Living features three-dimensional folded origami patterns. Available in mimosa, black and white.

2. Hanging flower pendant light, modern chandelier style for the Rouge Living origami collection.

1. An ego boost for the bathroom. Hard-edged design makes way for softer minimalist shapes and forms in the Ego range from Paco Jaanson which sees the bathroom transformed from a utility room into a private sanctuary and a place of relaxation. While functional, these bathware pieces are more like sculptural pieces than purely utility devices.

2. Leather Tom is a great little wall light from Melbourne designer Volker Haug. Made from an angled ceramic lamp holder, this baby also comes with a handmade leather cover! Cute!

3. This Hollywood style trunk from Innerspace is perfect for the diva in us all. Finished in steel chrome this storage trunk measures 60x60x60cm. Sturdy, durable and also stylish.

4. Winner of the 2009 Red Dot Design Award, the Moon Centre Piece from Magppie is crafted from stainless steel and will create a striking impression whether left to stand on its own, or used as a platter on a table.
