every drop counts

SAVE WATER in style with the DROP shower by Italian industrial designer Giulio Iacchetti. The DROP is made from silicone, which has a high thermal resistance, low-chemical reactivity and doesn't develop icky lime deposits.

The water droplet-shaped showerhead comes with a flow restrictor installed, limiting the flow rate to 7.5 litres per minute, so your recommended four-minute shower will cost you just 30 litres. The DROP shower is priced at $250 (excluding arm) and is available from Paco Jaanson.
