Euro chic in bathroom

European styling has become synonymous with the latest trends as more Australian homes shift towards a French or Italian-influenced interior design.

Among the European designers leading this trend is French designer Ito Morabito, who recently launched his sleek and contemporary Ora-Ito bathware collection for Spanish bathroom furniture company Supergrif.

This stunning collection is full of organic and curvaceous shapes that are set within stainless steel and resin.

It includes a towel rail, towel hook, toilet roll holder and hideaway storage compartment, each of which delivers functionality with chic aesthetics.

The collection also bears the added assurance of durability and longevity.

The Ora-Ito collection is available through Paco Jaanson throughout Australia.
