Kelly Hoppen tapware from the KH Zero 2 range.

Tap into British bathroom design

British interior designer Kelly Hoppen's collection of bathroom tapware is coming to Australia. She is known for having designed home interiors for celebrities including David and Victoria Beckham and for her role on TV show Dragon's Den and Hoppen's designs are underpinned by a subtle fusion of East meets West influences, clean lines and neutral tones with a sense of warmth and opulence.

The collection of tapware, KH Zero 2, is aerodynamic in form and has been designed to add a touch of luxury to the bathroom, with curvaceous shapes and a high level of functionality.

Prices start from $799 and the collection will be available nationwide from June, distributed by Paco Jaanson.
