

Kerasan K09 bathroom products sport rounded lines.

Italian design for the smallest area

■ Kaitlin Shawcross

Having a small bathroom doesn't mean you should have to compromise on style and with the new K09 range by Kerasan there's something to fit every space.

Created by Italian designer and architect Romano Adolini, the K09 range is about functionality and sleek design, with the series characterised by rounded lines.

The entire range has been made out of durable bathware material vitreous china.

Products available in the range include washbasins, toilet and bidet, wall-hung toilet and bidet as well as a close-couple toilet.

The K09 washbasins are available in a range of sizes to suit any space.

Prices start at $350 for the 40x37cm basin and increase to $440 for the 70x47cm basin. The wall-hung toilet retails at $990 and the wall-hung bidet at $1200.

■ For more information and to view the range, see pacojaanson.com.au